

Journal Of Biophotonics

Journal Of Biophotonics - Optical-resolution photoacoustic microscopy and endoscopy are powerful tools for medical imaging. However, implementation of the imaging heads or miniature imaging probes with high resolution and long working distance has been technically challenging. Forgot your password? Enter your email address below. If your address has been previously registered, you will receive an email with instructions on how to reset your password. Journal ISSN: 1864-063X About Journal of Biophotonics The first international journal dedicated to publishing reviews and original articles from this exciting field, the Journal of Biophotonics covers the broad range of research on interactions between light and biological material. The Journal of Biophotonics is a peer-reviewed scientific journal covering research on the interactions between light and biological material. The journal was established in 2008 by Jürgen Popp (Jena, Germany), Gert von Bally (Muenster, Germany), and Andreas Thoss (Berlin, Germany). and is published by Wiley–VCH. The editor-in-chief is Jürgen Popp.